WORKED WITH

AW, SHUCKS...

I had the pleasure of working with Jacqueline for several years at Ogilvy PR New York. She was one of the hardest working team members in an already highly productive office. Jacqueline was able to handle and deliver results for the most demanding clients and communications challenges in a range of industries. She is creative, upbeat, solutions-oriented and highly professional and polished in all that she does. I will always want her on my team.

– Margaret, SVP @ Ogilvy

Manny has been an invaluable resource for high-level executive networking and relentless in his execution to lift projects off the ground. His work with our non-profit has been strategic and highly effective. The goodwill that Manny has built in the business community manifests into real opportunities for his partners. Simply put, our organization would not have been able to accomplish its mission without his efforts. We're eternally grateful.
